Alleged Boosts for Pris-

Prison Board.

Declaring that the public is entitled to all facts relative to state institutions, Representative A. J. Perryman, Jr., chairman of the house penitentiary committee, announced Monday night that an immediate probe will be made of the escape of Abe Powers, convicted member of the Woodward bunco syndicate, from the state farm at Milledgeville several months ago.

A meeting of the penitentiary committee will be held Tuesday morning at the capitol, and the Powers escape will be called to the attention of the members by Chairman Perryman, with the request that a full investigation be made of reports that the prisoner was allowed privileges too soon after being convicted in the Fulton county superior court, and was not properly guarded.

One of the features of the investigation is expected to come in Warden J. E. Smith's testimony before the committee and as the result of a demand on the prison commission to place in the hands of the investigators certain letters from prominent officials and citizens which are said to have highly recommended the bunco operator to Warden Smith.

Letters Sent Smith.
After Powers' escape on April 18, Warden Smith is said to have stated that on account of these recommendations, which declared that the prisoner could be trusted, and that his health was impaired, he had allowed Powers to perform light duties.

Chairman Davidson, of the prison commission, was requested to make public these communications soon after he arrived in Atlanta following an investigation of the escape. The escape of Powers, the chairman reported, was not the result of any inside assistance or plot, and the prison officials were not to be censured. He refused, however, to make the letters public or to divulge the names of the authors.

Chairman Perryman reached a decision to investigate the escape of Powers Monday morning following the house's action in refusing to reconsider the Arnold resolution which provided for the abolition of all appropriations to committees making annual investigations of the various state institutions.

Defeat Vote to Reconsider.
During the debate, Mr. Perryman asked Representative Arnold if he favored discontinuing annual investigation of the penitentiary and other institutions. The author of the resolution replied that he did not, and when the vote was taken his motion to reconsider was defeated by a vote of 58 to 77.

In discussing his reason for opposing passage of the resolution, the chairman stated that he did not favor giving the prison commission unchecked control of the various penal institutions, while there was also a report that the commission was sponsoring its passage.

"The state welfare board was created on account of improper conditions in these various institutions," said Mr. Perryman, "and the greatest precautionary move the state can retain is to maintain the authority of legislative committees to make inspections."

"It does not matter about the commission having inspectors. These are not sufficient to meet the requirements, are subject wholly to the commission, and the charge has been made that they are no more than a political machine of this body."

My committee will make a fair and impartial examination of all departments under our jurisdiction and the facts of membership fees from 250,000 persons in all parts of the United States.

BILL IS EXPLAINED

Joe Hill Hall Declares
Measure Should Have Never Been Made Administration Issue.

After reaching a deadlock on the question of placing a constitutional limitation on the rate for the proposed income tax, the senate appropriation and finance committee which has the income tax bill before it, adjourned at 6:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The next meeting of the committee will be held Wednesday afternoon.

The action of the committee in refusing to take any action on the measure without further consideration was pointed out by those interested in the measure as a contrast to the speedy way in which the bill went through the house committee last week. The senate committee has taken the attitude of inviting all those interested in the measure to come before it and oppose any undue haste action.

The bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Golucke, of the nineteen, and aims to amend the constitution so as to allow taxes to be levied on incomes, gross earnings of corporations, output of corporations and occupations. It is recommended by Governor Hardwick and was drawn by Tax Commissioner Furber. No senatorial tax is embodied in the bill which is a simple amendment to the constitution, leaving the fixing of the amounts of the taxes to a future legislature. It is offered to take the place of the present ad valorem system.

Golucke's Appeal.
Senator Golucke appeared before the committee stating: "I appear before you as introducing this bill at the request of the Hardwick administration. For seventy-five years the state has been under the ad valorem system, but our needs

On Board the Destroyer Leary En Route to Norfolk, Va., July 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Bombing aircraft destroyed the former German light cruiser Frankfort late today 60 miles east of Virginia capes after an all-day attack which both navy and army air officers had begun to fear would be unsuccessful. A bomb, which failed to hit the target, but exploded in the water close by the starboard side near the bow, sent the cruiser down.

Up to the time this bomb, a 600-pounder, was launched at 4:22 p. m. by an army Martin plane from Langley Field, Va., the Frankfort had withstood eleven direct hits, five of them "duds," without being vitally damaged, and preparations for a gunfire attack on her by five destroyers had been put under way.

As the bomb left its carriage under the great wings of the Martin plane from an altitude of about 1,600 feet, it appeared as though it would strike on the forecastle deck. It missed by a scant few feet and upon striking the water exploded with terrific force. The Frankfort literally was forced up several feet by the concussion and upon settling down, after rocking and rolling for a minute or two, she began to go down gradually by the head.

Pittsburg, July 18.—The interior of the main building of the Western Pennsylvania penitentiary, a dozen smaller buildings connected with the institution were burned and 14 persons, nine of them convicts, were injured Monday afternoon in what is declared to have been the greatest prison riot and attempted prison delivery in the history of the United States.

The nine injured convicts were shot by city police, county detectives and prison guards. Three probably will die. Three city policemen and a district fire chief were injured in the rioting, and a city fireman was seriously burned.

Fire Loss $150,000.
The fire loss is estimated at $150,000.

The outbreak began with a fist fight during mess hour. Being long-termers, many of the prisoners are desperate and the tractable element found in the majority in most prisons is very small. The convicts had been cranky of late. The men wanted more cigarettes. The women inmates wanted face powder. But most of all, from recent indications in the prison, all wanted excitement and relief from the terrible day-after-day uneventful monotony, although they probably could not have said for themselves just what they did want. They were restive and restless.

Two big batches of long-term prisoners were received from other prisons and noon Monday was the first time the newcomers had been assigned to places in their respective messes.

Trouble Begins.
At noon, then, two notorious trouble-makers got into a fist fight. Guards in the mess hall rushed them to pry them apart. This seemed to be the signal, prearranged by the lip-reading grapevine communication of the convicts, for an outbreak. A sugar bowl was hurled at the heads of the diners and struck one of the guards. Instantly the others leaped on the tables and began throwing tableware, or pulling the chairs apart and beating the guards with the rungs. In the prison yard, at this moment, guards saw smoke plumes curling up from the frame shop buildings and a moment later the fire alarm rang.

By this time the entire prison was in an uproar comparable to the noisiest ever heard before by the oldest guard. The 1,000 caged men and women seemed to have gone suddenly raving mad and shrieks of anger mingled with the clatter of fire apparatus and the excited shouts of the prison authorities trying to fight fire and riot at once. Later the sharp report of the

A measure providing for the lease of the present governor's mansion property for a period of ninety-nine years; the discounting of five years' rental from this transaction so as to build another home for the chief executive; similar proceedings with ten years' rental from the Western and Atlantic railroad, in order to give the state approximately $1,500,000 for immediate use, and the levying of special taxes, will be introduced in the senate this week by Senator L. C. Brown.

Although Secretary of State S. Guyt McLendon and Senator Brown have held no conferences and are not working in conjunction, a step toward placing the latter's plans into effect was developed Monday night when it was learned that the house railroad committee had favorably reported the funding plan measure.

Will Slice Appropriations.
One of the other interesting events of the evening was a reliable report that the appropriations committee had decided to reduce the fund for common schools this year $1,000,000 while $470,000 would be sliced from the Confederate veterans' pension sum. This report came from an official source and was verified by several members of the house committee.

The feature of this bill, according to Senator Brown, is that it does not impose exorbitant taxes on any class, and will be so designed as to net the state an annual rental of not less than $20,000 from the mansion.

Bobby Jones Says 78 Will

(Copyright, 1921, by United News.)

Washington, July 18.—Well, here we are. All the fervent practicing for the big show is over and we are now on the eve of what promises to be the most memorable open championship ever held in this country.

The large field must rest content with its various practice rounds over the course and set itself for the test which begins tomorrow for selection of half the 260 entrants.

Various guesses have been made with regard to the score which will qualify. The most popular opinion is that 78 will be good enough—and possibly 79—to secure a much-coveted place in the charmed circle. That is, of course, provided the present fine weather holds through tomorrow and Wednesday. If the players are unlucky enough to be forced to play in a rainstorm or high wind, then, naturally, the score will be somewhat higher.

Much Low Scoring.
There has been much low scoring done during the past few days, but this really amounts to nothing. The score one turns in when playing a friendly four-ball match may very often bear small resemblance to that recorded by the relentless pencil during the actual tournament.

DECREE IN ATLANTA.

Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city physician, to whose attention the public health service report on pellagra conditions was called Monday, stated that a substantial decrease in pellagra has been noticed in Atlanta. Statistics of his office show, he said, that for the year just ending only one death from pellagra in Atlanta has been reported.

As to pellagra throughout the state, other experts said that no figures are yet available on immediate conditions, but that other than cotton, would indicate that an improvement may be expected in the situation, which government's figures would indicate to be alarming.

Washington, July 18.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire.)—Declaring that the tenant farmers of the cotton-growing states "have been forced by the failure of the cotton market to adopt a starvation diet that is rapidly decimating them," the United States public health service has issued startling statement which made by representatives in congress to a protest by Mr. Garner against an amendment offered by Representative Longworth, Ohio, a member of the committee, to increase the rate on citric acid. Submission of it as a committee amendment when no full meeting of the committee had been held, Mr. Garner declared, violated the right of minority members. Representative Garrett denounced it as calculated "to destroy parliamentary government."

The Garner point of order was sustained, after which Chairman Fernald announced that at two meetings of the committee, pending passage of the bill, the democratic members would be admitted.

Long staple cotton was transferred from the free to the dutiable list by a vote of 165 to 74, both parties again being split. The duty would apply only to cotton of one and one-eighth inch staple, although several attempts were made to increase the length of the staple and thereby reduce the amount of the commodity coming under the protection. Washington, July 18.—After once following Abe Mitchell around a golf course it is easy to realize that the blue-groined Briton has not been over press-agented concerning his prodigious wallop. This afternoon he played a foursome over the Columbia course with Mike Brady, John G. Anderson and Fairway Farrell, and the match was far and away the best of the day, as testified by the scores of the contestants and the enormous gallery which followed the play.

Yesterday morning when he was matched with two of the longest hitters of the game, Duncan and Hutchison, he demonstrated his superiority with the wooden clubs time and again by outdistancing them by many yards.

Mitchell, unlike either Ray or Vardon, is not heavily built. He is wiry and lean and appears to take less than a full stroke. His tremendous distance is apparently gotten by the snap of powerful wrists and the perfectly timed swing of a sixteen-ounce club.

Experts point out that he is not the iron player of distance and accuracy like Evans or Bobby Jones.

Washington, July 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The house late today put long staple cotton on the dutiable list with an ad valorem rate of 15 per cent. The duty will apply only to cotton with a staple one and one-eighth inches in length, and affect only imports of Egyptian or other cotton not comparable to the ordinary commodity produced in the south.

Members were in doubt as to what compensatory rates on all cotton goods would be considered necessary by reason of the imposition of a tax on the raw product. There was no explanation of the committee's action in deciding at the last moment not to take the ordinary variety of cotton such as is raised in the south from the free list.

Oil went on the free list by a house vote of more than 2 to 1. With oil out of the way the house was plunged into great disorder in a protest by Mr. Garner against an amendment offered by Representative Longworth, Ohio, a member of the committee, to increase the rate on citric acid. Submission of it as a committee amendment when no full meeting of the committee had been held, Mr. Garner declared, violated the right of minority members. In addition to this $200,000,000, the board spent $200,000,000 which was needed from the operation of vessels, Lasker said, making a total expenditure of $600,000,000.

Lasker said he would go before congress Tuesday to ask for $300,000,000, which "simply would be throwing good money after bad." Lasker cited many instances of graft in the shipping board and said that of the four hundred million dollars marked up last year for operating disbursements, three hundred million could not be accounted for. Points to Recent Election

Declaration of Ulster
Stand on Partition.

ACTION IS SURPRISE, AND CHECK TO HOPES

Official Announcement
Monday Merely Says
De Valera and George
Meet Again Thursday.

London, July 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Irish negotiations have taken an unexpected development last tonight. Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, on leaving for Belfast, made an important statement, which appears to forbid any hope of assembling a conference such as Premier Lloyd-George proposed between himself, Mr. De Valera and the Ulster premier.

The Ulster leader maintains that the Sinn Feiners themselves, by contesting the elections for the northern parliament on a platform of "no partition," in which they were roundly defeated, have recognized Ulster's claim to self-determination and, so far as his words have been interpreted for the present, he seems to wash his hands of any further participation in the peace negotiations.

Sir James said:

"Well Satisfied."
"I return home well satisfied with the efforts being made to wards peace. Mr. de Valera has broken his silence and cleared the ground by his statement to the press that he proposes to found his claim on recognition of the right of self-determination."

The Ulster premier contended that the people of northern Ireland in the recent elections "determined" their own platform by an overwhelming majority. "No partition," in fact, was the only issue placed before the electorate, said Sir James, and it was rejected by the largest majority ever secured in any general election.

"Such being the true facts," he continued, "it now only remains for Mr. de Valera and the British people to come to terms regarding the area outside of that which I am a prisoner minister. The people of northern Ireland make no claim whatever to 'determine' the terms of settlement which Great Britain shall make with southern Ireland."

"When this is accomplished, I can promise cordial co-operation on equal terms with southern Ireland in any matters affecting our common interest."

"Having reached the present stage, I return to Ireland to carry on the practical work of the government. I feel that our interests are ably represented in the imperial parliament, and, of course, our services are available at any moment."

Spirits Fall.
The official announcement issued at the close of a long conference between the premier and Mr. de Valera was met with a sigh of relief.

"The conversations between Mr. Lloyd-George and Mr. de Valera will be resumed Thursday." This ordinarily would permit the

QUESTION DETAILS IN KILLING STORY

Inconsistency Seen by Officials in Story of Deaths of Hudson Children Told by Mother.

Albany, Ga., July 18.—(Special.) That there is some inconsistency in the alleged confession of Mrs. Benjie Hudson in connection with the killings of her two little sons by a former marriage, Robert and Isaiah Temple, aged 10 and 4 years, is the opinion of officials here. Mrs. Hudson is said to claim that her husband killed the two boys Tuesday morning of last week, just before she and Hudson were to leave for Albany. Hudson is now held for safekeeping in the Macon jail, charged with murder. Mrs. Hudson is held in jail here charged with complicity in the murder of the children. In his cell at Macon, Hudson stoutly maintains his innocence of the charges brought against him in the alleged confession of his wife. The bodies of the children, whose death were reported by the stepfather, were found lying upon the porch of the Hudson home, with Hudson's pistol beside them. He asserts that upon his return from Albany, where he had that morning carried his wife to her place of employment, a candy factory, he found the bodies, and that there were at the time of the discovery another white man beside himself, and a negro on the premises. Hudson was jailed on a charge of murder. His wife was held as a material witness in the case. The following day, however, the woman was charged with complicity in the slaying of her children. In her alleged confession the woman charged that after making ready to go to Albany from their farm near here Tuesday morning, the husband forced her under threats to go across the road from their home. She says that after he had then gone into the house, she heard her boys screaming as though beaten, and that their cries were followed by shots. She asserts that he attempted to secure her silence by threats of death should she tell of the affair. In the opinion of many, there is an inconsistency in the story in that when bodies were discovered, there was a caseknife in the hand of each dead child and that when they met death they apparently had been in the act of cutting a watermelon. Many believe that had Hudson beaten the children before killing them, as would be indicated, they maintain, by the screams Mrs. Hudson says she heard before the shots, the children would not have held caseknives, nor would they when killed have fallen in the places in which the bodies were found. In his jail in Macon, Hudson continues to declare his innocence of the charges in the alleged confession of his wife. Counsel has been engaged for him by his father, who is a well-to-do farmer, near Biggs, Ala. He is now no longer depressed, it is stated, and chats with the half-dozen other prisoners confined in the large cell with himself.

Atlanta's Delegation To Hotel Convention Receives Much Praise

Atlanta's delegation to the American Hotel and Restaurant Association exposition held last week in Chicago, Ill., were back in the city Monday receiving congratulations on the election of E. L. Thornton, manager of the Thornton cafeteria, as president of the American Caterers' association, and selection of Atlanta as the 1922 convention city. That the Atlanta delegates made a big noise in Chicago is made evident by the following quotation from the Chicago Daily News Reporter, published in Chicago: "The American Caterers' association delegation from Atlanta, which is a 'live bunch' and is whooping it up strong all this week in Chicago. The famous Atlanta quartet, composed of DeJarnette, president of the Georgia Hotel and Restaurant Association, and manager of the Cecil hotel; W. V. Zimmerman, E. L. Thornton and 'Cousin Fred' Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention Bureau, and their big Atlanta badges are keeping the Chicago of the South always in evidence." Nearly 1,000 restaurant men, from the United States, Canada and Mexico, are expected to attend the 1922 convention of the American Caterers' association, which will open in Atlanta on October 15, 1922. One of the features of the Atlanta convention will be "New Orleans day," so called because George J. Mitchell, manager of the Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans and first president of the association, will bring his famous kitchen force and regale the convention with some real-Creole cooking. The business program for the next convention will be featured by the institution of a reference bureau for the purpose of keeping tabs on all men employed by hotels, restaurants and insuring jobs to all men with good records.

TO-NIGHT Tomorrow Alright

No. 16 Columbia avenue, the home of Dr. S. A. Garrett, was ransacked Monday afternoon while all members of the family were absent. Besides taking the clothes of Dr. Garrett and his wife, nearly the entire stock of silverware was taken, also a child's savings bank. An unidentified negro made a round of the houses in that section Monday afternoon proposing to cut the lawns of the various homes, and the present belief is that he was the burglar. No one has yet been arrested.

Lyric Theater (Keith Vaudeville)—See adv. for program.	Metropolitan Theater —All week, Rosemary Theby, in "Good Women," and other screen features.
Loew's Grand (Vaudeville and Pictures)—See adv. for program.	Tudor Theater —Tuesday and Wednesday, Rosemary Theby and Conway Tearle in "Whispering Devils," and other screen features.
Howard Theater —Tuesday and Wednesday, Harriet Hammond in "Live and Let Live," and other screen features.	Orpheum Theater —All week, Anna Q. Nilsson, in "In the Heart of a Woman," and other screen features.
Keith Vaudeville. (At the Lyric.) Four top-line acts, each a headliner and a knockout, struggle to a no-decision for feature position on the program for the opening of the present week at the Lyric. The acts are offered by Billy Beard, George Moore and Mary Jayne, Jim and Marian Harkins and Frank and Clara LaTour.	Grand Theater —All week, "The Man in the Forest," and other screen features.
Loew Vaudeville. (At the Grand.) A splendid staging act, an impressive dancing offering and a thrilling novelty in the athletic line make the current bill at Loew's Grand stand out among the most enjoyable in weeks.	Fifth Theater —Tuesday and Wednesday, Mary Miles Minter in "Moonlight and Honey-suckle," and other screen features.
"Live and Let Live." (At the Howard.) William Christy Cabanne's new picture "Live and Let Live," a story that deals with the absurdity of the proposed "blue laws" now being agitated throughout the country, made a decided hit at the Howard last night. The picture is an interesting from a melodramatic viewpoint, is also worth going to see from an artistic standpoint. It shows the impossibility of cutting people off from all recreation on the "only day" in which ninety-five per cent of them have any chance to amuse themselves.	Vaudeville Theater —Tuesday, Thomas Meighan in "The City of Silent Men."
"Good Women." (At the Metropolitan.) It was a nicely balanced program that the Metropolitan presented for the entertainment of its patrons yesterday. The feature picture, "Good Women," proved both interesting and pleasing. It is a rather different treatment of a subject that has occupied considerable thought—the right of an individual, more particularly a woman, to evade modern conventions.	Beverly Theater —Tuesday, May Allison in "Extravaganza."
"A Wise Fool." (At the Rialto.) Presenting charming pictures of life in Quebec, "A Wise Fool," an unusually refreshing George McFord production for Paramount, scored a decisive hit at the Rialto theatre yesterday. The story which is based on Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, "The Money Master," deals with an eccentric French-Canadian philosopher who is wrapped up in his own dreams of self-importance, but who is later disillusioned when he makes the discovery that the outside world knows him no better than the most common worm that crawls and a cast of picked players, the picture is well worth seeing. The picture is well worth seeing for aside from the dramatic interest of the story, the various scenes have been delightfully photographed.	Alpha Theater —Tuesday, E. K. Lincoln in "Buddy's Christmas."
"The Heart of a Fool." (At the Criterion.) William Allen White's novel, "In the Heart of a Fool," pictured by Allen Dwan and interpreted by a capable cast of players provided the major portion of the Criterion's program yesterday. The feature is a heavy dramatic subject, handling the theme of passion and presented convincingly.	Four Lives Saved. Jameson Neighbors Rescues Lads From Drowning.

YOURS IS THE MISTAKE— YOU ARE THE PERSON HURT—

If Georgia and her municipalities are helpless.

Your Constitution makes it impossible for your Legislature to do for our towns and cities those things which the Constitution of the various states make possible for the cities and towns of Virginia, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Mississippi, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Rhode Island, Kansas, Oregon, Kentucky, Louisiana, New York, North Dakota, Nebraska, California, South Dakota, Arizona and Texas.

The Constitutions of those states do not make it impossible for their municipalities to develop their water powers as does the Constitution of Georgia.

You can amend your Constitution, if you are permitted to vote.

Your Legislature Should Have The Power That Legislatures Elsewhere Have

May-be the possibility of a much needed reduction in the price of ice for the poor being brought about by the introduction of cheap electricity, which might do away altogether with the use of ice for preserving food, caused the appearance of Mr. Stockwell S. Dudley, President of the Consumer's Ice Company, of Atlanta, before the Committee on Constitutional Amendments to oppose the Water Power Bills.

But Mr. Dudley and Honorable Ferner Barrett, of Toccoa, who at Albany was given the privilege of speaking at the Water Power Convention at the request of the Georgia Railway & Power Company, were the only persons other than known representatives of the Power Companies to appear before the Committee to oppose the passage of these bills, which 135 Georgia towns and cities have asked the Legislature to pass.

The bills do not impose one cent of tax or one dollar of debt upon the state or her municipalities. The bills only make it possible for you to go to the polls and vote to amend or not to amend your Constitution to give to your towns and cities the powers possible for municipalities in other states.

Are the objections of Messrs. Dudley and Barrett, and of the Power Companies sufficient to justify denying this privilege to our people?

ALLIED DEBTS NOT TO BE CANCELED

Nations of Europe Were Told Long Ago by President Wilson That All Money Must Be Repaid.

BY JOHN GLEISSNER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, July 18.—The senate, it is now indicated, will seek to supervise over the funding of the debts of foreign governments to the United States, and may decline to grant, without reservation, the broad powers asked by the administration to complete funding agreements.

Opposition to what senators hold has been undue leniency on the part of this government in its loan dealings, has aroused the fear that interests of this country will not be safeguarded. The opposition has been heightened by revelations of the efforts of the allied governments to obtain cancellation of the loans, by reports that payments are to be deferred for a long period of years, and by stories that German bonds might be accepted in lieu of payments from the debtor governments.

Secretary Mellon has been informed by Senators Penrose, Curtis and Smoot, leading republican members of the finance committee, that amendments must be made to the funding bill submitted by the administration, "for political reasons." The situation that has developed makes this necessary, Mellon was told. He was urged to accept changes which would limit the funding operations to five years, prohibit cancellation of any portions of the debt, and provide that agreements be submitted to the senate for ratification.

Mellon makes objections. Mellon objected vigorously to all except the time limitation. He declared the funding process would be "interminable" if agreements were to be reviewed. Further revelations on the negotiations for cancellation were presented to the senate when Senator Lodge inserted in the record a letter which President Wilson wrote to Premier Lloyd-George, and one which Secretary of the Treasury Houston wrote to Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the British exchequer.

Wilson's letter, written last October, showed that this government had no time willing to accept cancellation. He stated with emphasis that payment would be expected, and insisted that funding operations be completed with all possible speed, predicting the situation which has arisen since if this were not done.

He told the premier that this government entirely agreed with the British government that fixing of Germany's reparations was a "cardinal necessity" for renewal of economic life in Europe. However, he said, "the United States falls to perceive the logic of a suggestion in effect that the United States shall pay part of Germany's reparations obligation, or that it shall make a gratuity to the allied governments to induce them to fix such obligation at the amount within Germany's capacity to pay."

This was written in connection with a refusal to link the reparation and debt negotiations.

Wilson Laid Down Law. "No power has been given by congress to anyone to exchange, remit or cancel any part of the indebtedness of the allied governments to the United States," the president wrote. "It is highly improbable that either the congress or popular opinion in this country will ever permit a cancellation of any part of the debt of the allied governments as an inducement toward a practical settlement of the reparation claim."

"You will recall that suggestions looking to the cancellation or exchange of the indebtedness of Great Britain to the United States were made to me when I was in Paris. Like suggestions were again made by the chancellors of the exchequer in the early part of the present year. The United States, by its duly authorized representatives, has promptly and clearly stated its willingness to accept such suggestions each time they have been made. I have pointed out in detail the considerations which caused its decision. The debt of the United States has not changed, and it is not prepared to consent to the remission of any part of the debt of Great Britain to the United States."

Wilson said that funding of these obligations would do more to strengthen Anglo-American relations than any other action. The long delay in funding, he declared, already had embarrassed the American treasury.

"Unless arrangements are completed for funding such loans there is likely to develop a dangerous misunderstanding," he said, "urging that a British representative be sent to Washington immediately to undertake funding negotiations."

Secretary Houston wrote to Austen Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, declaring: "Apparently there are those who have been laboring for some time under the delusion that inevitable consequences of war can be avoided."

"I recognize that a general cancellation of such debts would be of advantage to Great Britain and that it probably would not involve any losses on her part."

Houston explained, however, that the United States had no debts to cancel. "Such a proposal does not involve mutual sacrifices on the part of the nations concerned," he continued. "It simply involves a contribution, mainly by the United States."

Houston pointed out that this nation "has neither sought nor obtained substantial benefits from the war," and referred to territories and advantages acquired by other nations.

The payment by the government of $22,000,000 for transportation, while Britain owes billions to the government, aroused sharp criticism in the senate finance committee and on the floor of the senate. In committee, Senator Reed questioned Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, and was informed that the settlement was one of the "current matters," and that the payment was in final settlement of a "large account."

Questioning elicited the information from Mellon that at the same time the United States has a similar bill against Britain for $12,000,000.

GOMPERS PROTESTS
CHINESE FOR HAWAII

Labor Leader Visits White House With Objection to Labor Plan.

Washington, July 18.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, visited the white house today and protested to President Harding against a resolution pending in congress which would give the president authority to admit Chinese labor into Hawaii. Mr. Gompers said the measure would admit 50,000 coolies into the islands.

"The charge that only Chinese labor can be used in Hawaii and that white labor cannot be obtained," Mr. Gompers said after leaving the white house, "and the charge that the sugar industry there will not support recent measures, are untrue and those most active in trying to secure the passage of the bill know they are untrue."

Mr. Gompers declared that reports on labor conditions in Hawaii made by government officials had been suppressed by men "high in our government."

"As far back as April, 1913," Mr. Gompers said, "Richard Halsey, inspector in charge at Honolulu, reported to the commissioner general of immigration, described the manner in which the most helpless and impoverished classes of Spanish, Portuguese and Philippine were brought to Hawaii by the sugar planters then said, 'It is certainly a fact that without them the plantations that have paid from 50 to 90 per cent on their original investment will not be able to continue to do so.'"

Mr. Gompers quoted from a report of former Commissioner General of Immigration K. K. Carter, in which complaint was made that reports of conditions in Hawaii were being suppressed.

"Parliamentary procedure in reference to the joint resolution can hardly inspire confidence in sympathy for the measure," Mr. Gompers said, "but rather a feeling that some unusual methods are being employed to force it through."

LIKE WILD BEASTS,
CONVICTS BATTLE

fire arms punctuated the din. Nine fire companies came pelting down tributary streets, converging about the outer walls of the prison, bringing a howling crowd of fire fans with them. The convicts, realizing that their one chance to get away was slipping, attacked with redoubled fury and their cries rose to a mad chorus clearly audible to the free men and women in the crowd who were now being showered with occasional bursts of shattered glass and iron. But even after all but the missing seven had been securely locked up the chorus of curses kept up and it was still going on at dusk when sentries mounted guard on the walls at intervals of 30 paces and the guards established posts with machine guns covering the inner prison square.

One of the prison attaches said his first notice of the fight was a shower of plates, cups, saucers and men back into their cells he did not know but even after they had been locked up they continued to make all possible trouble. Some even setting fire to their bedding and losing it out into the corridors where the firemen were again peeled with cell furnishings. An investigation is now being made to find out who were the instigators of the riot.

Charles Comiskey Provides

Sensation at Black Sox Trial

Defense Accuses Old Roman of Contract Jumping—Magna Attempts Personal Attack.

Chicago, July 18.—Charles A. Comiskey, the "Old Roman" of baseball, provided a sensation at the "Black Sox" trial today when he leaped from the witness stand in Judge Hugo Friend's court and shook his fist in the face of Attorney Benedict Short.

The tall, striking looking old gentleman, with the shock of gray hair, who has been in baseball for 47 years, and who now owns and operates one of the most magnificent ball parks in the major leagues, lost control of himself at a question from the attorney which he took as a personal insult.

Attorney Short had been questioning him with reference to his baseball career.

"It is not true, Mr. Comiskey," the "Black Sox" lawyer asked, "that when you left the Cincinnati National league club of which you had been first baseman and manager, you jumped your contract?"

"That is not true," the witness declared, jumping from the chair and starting toward the attorney.

Near Flat Fight.

Other lawyers hastily interposed and prevented what appeared to be an attack. The court said: "The judge demanded order."

After urging Comiskey to calm himself, Judge Friend ordered the question and answer stricken from the record.

"I never jumped a contract and I never broke my word," Comiskey declared, hotly.

The old Roman was the first witness at the opening of the case against seven of his former ball players and four alleged gamblers, charged with "throwing" the 1919 world's series.

Avoids "Black Sox."

As Comiskey entered the courtroom where his former pennant winners were grouped back of their great battery of lawyers, he drew his coat tails about him so that he would not touch the stars of the "once-greatest team in baseball." They looked up at him in a pathetic endeavor to catch his eye, but he paid not the slightest attention to them.

When examination was resumed, Comiskey went into his personal baseball history. He said he has been associated with baseball since 1876, when he was pitching for the Milwaukee club. He told of the various clubs he was with and the positions he held until 1917 when he was manager and part owner of the St. Paul club. In 1920, he said, the franchise was moved to Chicago and the Western association team was changed to the American league.

Comiskey then told how the size of his park increased from 1900 to a seating capacity of 32,000.

When the tiff between the lawyer and magnate came, the "Black Sox" laughed at hearing their former boss accused of being a "contract breaker."

Outline of Case.

Prior to Comiskey's testimony, Assistant State's Attorney George E. Gorman, outlined the state's case against the defendants. He said he would show conspiracy to "fix" the world's series in New York in 1919. He told of confessions made by three of the indicted players, Edward Cicotte, Joseph Jackson and Claude Williams, to the Cook county grand jury last October.

Ban Johnson, president of the American league, will also be a witness. He has been conducting an investigation of baseball crookedness and his testimony is expected to have a decided bearing upon the trial.

MURPHY WILL TRAIN HERE

This Eddie McGorty-Frankie Murphy mill out at Ponce de Leon Tuesday night, July 19, looks like the biggest fighting attraction that has been staged here over a period of recent years. Eddie McGorty, a native of Ireland, is a middleweight class, with a good chance of detouring Johnny Wilson when he gets his crack at the title. McGorty started on his way to fame when he joined the team of Americans that toured Australia several years ago, what that faraway continent ranked with the best of them in the fighting game. Along with Jimmy Clabby and other American fighters of note, McGorty took the top of the middleweight crown till the start of the world war, and his enlistment in Uncle Sam's army.

Frankie Murphy finished off his fighting week last week with a knockout over Jack Bennett in Charleston. Murphy is out for the big honors that a victory over McGorty would give him, and is ready to enter into an intensive training period for the grind here Tuesday.

McGorty, a native of Ireland, has been a professional fighter for several months ago that has been uncovered and supposed on his way to a high place in the middleweight standing when Murphy, the unknown Charleston lad, put him to sleep along with his hopes for a ring career.

BABE'S 36TH

IN DETROIT

Detroit, July 18.—Babe Ruth hit his longest home run of the season here today, sending the ball over the corner of the center field fence in the eighth inning of a game that New York won easily, 10 to 1. The ball hit the ground 560 feet, the home plate. Ruth's former record for the season was 466 feet, this blow being delivered at the Polo grounds. DEMURRER HALTS BLACKMAIL CASE AGAINST OFFICER

Macon, Ga., July 18.—(Special.)—An indictment against Ben F. Gatliff, motorcycle officer of the police department, charging blackmail, was thrown out of court by Judge H. A. Matthews today in sustaining a demurrer filed by Judge C. L. Bartlett, Solicitor-General Charles H. Garrett instructed witnesses for the state in this case to show up in the September term of court, indicating that he would seek a new indictment.

There were six grounds in the demurrer, the second being sustained, namely, that the indictment failed to show with what crime Gatliff had accused J. F. Layton in his alleged demand for $110.

Guarantees Are No Better Than The Guarantor

Some diamond merchants make a practice of giving written guarantees on solitaire diamonds.

Some of these guarantees are incomplete, others deceive. Any dealer may describe a stone as "perfectly cut," which doesn't mean that the stone is free from flaws.

An imperfectly cut diamond having three-quarters of a carat unnecessary weight—and absolutely without brilliancy could be described as "perfect."

MORAL—

Choose a diamond merchant you can trust. If you can not trust a dealer's grades you can not trust his guarantee.

Buy correctly graded diamonds here where weights and grades are guaranteed. If we can't show you the size and grade required we can recommend other dealers here who will show you properly graded diamonds.

Selections shipped prepaid for inspection.

Attractive terms given.

DEFINITE PROGRAM NOW FOR CONGRESS

Legislative Problems Assuming Semblance of Order—Six Weeks' Recess May Begin This Week.

BY CLARK HOWELL, JR.
Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, July 18.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire.)—Every indication to an early recess of the senate, possibly the latter part of this week, until September 8 now that the soldier bonus bill has been recommended to the finance committee following Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's letter, urging its postponement and President Harding's virtual direction that it should take that course.

For the first time since congress met in April there is now some semblance of a legislative program formulated and congress will move along this plan unless unforeseen developments occur. In the house the tariff bill will be disposed of this Thursday and immediately transmitted to the senate, where it will be committed and it is expected that hearings before the finance committee will last approximately six weeks. It is during these six weeks that the senate will take a recess if the schedule plan of republican leaders is not blocked. Upon the reconvention of the senate in early September the tariff bill will be ready for the senate's discussion.

House Busy.

No recess, however, is in sight for the house, for upon its disposal of the tariff measure it will be confronted immediately with the all-important question of taxation legislation. Important as the tariff is, representatives realize that nothing can be as important to their constituents as the tax problem, and with the tremendous output which must be made from the treasury as an aftermath of the war, it will be difficult, if not impossible, to make taxes less burdensome and at the same time provide sufficient revenue to meet current obligations.

Passage of the anti-beer bill in the senate will await disposition of the Norris bill to create a hundred million dollar farm export corporation.

The senate declined Monday, by a vote of 47 to 17, to consider the bill at this time, and instead made the Norris bill the unfinished business.

Tentative Program

The program as tentatively agreed upon by republican and democratic leaders, as the managers of the agrarian bloc is as follows:

First. Passage of the three measures urged by the agrarian bloc, to-wit:

(A) Authorizing joint, landstock banks to issue bonds at 51-2 percent instead of 5 per cent as provided by existing law.

(B) Permitting federal farm loan banks to make loans to the extent of $25,000 instead of $10,000 to any one farmer as at present.

(C) Providing that the secretary of agriculture or some one representing him shall be a member of the federal reserve board.

Second. Passage of the Sheppard-Towner maternity and infancy bill for which unanimous consent has been obtained for a vote.

It is expected that the senate will dispose of the Willis-Campbell beer bill by passing it although there has been a strong fight conducted against it by some senators who were in favor of the eighteenth amendment but who feel that this bill is going beyond the provisions of that amendment and that it is too radical.

Farmer Relief.

Upon the disposal of the beer bill it is practically certain that the three measures providing relief for the farmers will be placed before the senate, and it is equally certain that the agrarian bloc will live up to their name and attempt to block any recess of the senate until these bills have been acted upon.

It will be recalled that Senator Lodge introduced a resolution calling for a senate recess about ten days ago prior to the recommittal of the bonus bill, and that his motion was defeated by three votes due to the combined votes of the democrats and the republican members of the agrarian bloc who insisted that the senate should not yield to the farmers' interests had been considered.

The senate has virtually pledged itself to the consideration of the Sheppard-Towner maternity and infancy bill, which women's organizations in all sections of the country are supporting, but doubt has been

G. O. P. IN GEORGIA TO BE REORGANIZED

Complete reorganization of the republican party in Georgia is expected to result from the meeting which has been called for 11 o'clock July 26, in Telford hall at the Auditorium—called by headquarters of the republican national committee in Washington with the sanction of President Harding.

It is estimated that approximately 150 leading Georgia republicans who have been invited to this important party conference by the national committee, will attend. Patronage will not be discussed, but it is believed that from the session will arise the nucleus of a completely new party in Georgia.

Clarence B. Miller, secretary of the republican national committee, will be among the prominent figures attending the meet here for consultation with the G. O. P. members from this state. Dave Mulvaney, republican leader and national committeeman, of Topeka, Kan., is another whose attendance is practically assured.

According to some of the local members of the party who have been in close contact with the administration, great dissatisfaction exists among the republican official ranks at the manner in which the party was conducted in Georgia.

The varied split which have featured the party's attempts at organization, it is said, have made it necessary that something be done to put the party on an even and more patriotic basis.

An and to factionalism in the party and a party which will have party patriotism instead of patronage patriotism are said to be the real reasons for headquarters' desire to reform the party as it exists in the state.

ST. LOUIS Your Economical Market

Shorter freight haul to two-thirds of the United States.

A Word to Merchants— Cheaper Freight Rates Reduce Selling Prices

Every penny saved on the cost of goods helps you to make the competitive low price your customers are seeking nowadays. You can buy goods as low or lower in St. Louis than in any other market. Your saving in freight over other markets is an important item in figuring profits and meeting competition. Look at the map. St. Louis ships to two-thirds of the United States with shorter freight haul than any other big market.

Time is money when you go to buy goods and pay hotel bills. Railroad fare now is a larger item of expense than ever. St. Louis is your nearest big market. Your saving starts when you buy your railroad ticket to go to market, because the mileage to St. Louis is less than to any other complete market.

A package car system built up at the suggestion of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce gives St. Louis a decided advantage over other markets in making prompt deliveries to you. More than 1,200 package cars leave St. Louis every night by through freight, by which mixed shipments reach you on almost the same basis as express. This service places the goods on your counter as a salable asset. Turnover is a vital factor in figuring profits and offering fair-priced commodities to your customers.

St. Louis houses have the largest open stocks of any market in the country. This means the widest varieties for inspection and immediate delivery. You can see the order made up as you select the merchandise. You can buy the needed stock for your entire store within the one compact St. Louis wholesale district.

St. Louis' economic position for distribution and its package car service save you money on every dollar's worth of merchandise you buy. The completeness of the stocks makes selection easy. The compactness of its wholesale district saves time and hotel bills. Come to market early. Come to St. Louis—the Solid City of the Central West.

St. Louis Fashion Show dates in Municipal Open-Air Theater:
August 2, 3, 9, 10, 11, 16, 17.

Send today for our free booklet, "St. Louis in Facts and Figures." It will interest you. Address General Secretary, St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

St. Louis Chamber of Commerce

To OUT-OF-TOWN MERCHANTS:

We want you to get the best possible service out of St. Louis. Do you have occasional trouble in getting shipments or any trouble in securing the right rate? If so, let us help you. Address General Secretary, St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Telephone Trust
IS NOW CHARGED
Knoxville, Tenn., July 18.—A country-wide monopoly of telephone service with interlocking contracts with subsidiaries cleverly drawn as to permit the deposit of sizeable profits in the parental company while the several subsidiaries apparently eke out a bare operating revenue is charged by protesting municipalities which this morning at Nashville opened their fight before the public utilities commission on the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph company's application for a rate increase of approximately 15 per cent.

Protesting cities and exchanges, twenty in number, which have combined to fight the application for today filed an answer to the company's petition. The answer was drawn by City Attorney Roy H. Beeler, of Knoxville, and released for publication here today.

It asks that "all interlocking contracts with the American Telephone and Telegraph company and all other subsidiary companies by which the parent company and other subsidiary companies receive a per cent of the revenue of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph company be set aside and that an order properly and equitably distributing the total toll rates be handed down. It also prays for an immediate appraisal of the company's rates by the Tennessee and an audit of its books.

Japan Is Uneasy Over Disarming
Proposed Conference Upsets Nation's Plans, Owning to Relations With Government of China.
BY RALPH H. TURNER.
United News Staff Correspondent.
Washington, July 18.—While the state department still awaits Japan's complete acceptance of President Harding's invitation to a new world conference, there is increasing evidence here of the uneasiness with which the Japanese view the epochal turn in the international situation.

It would seem, in a quandary. If she declines to enter wholeheartedly and without reservation into the discussion of Far Eastern questions, she throws herself open to suspicion. But if every phase of the Far Eastern problem is thrown upon the table for discussion Japan stands to lose both prestige and power in the Orient.

China, it is learned, hopes to open the whole question of Japanese "special privilege" in the Chinese republic. The Peking government, viewing the Harding conference as an opportunity of a lifetime, will seek increased sovereignty for itself by proposing revision of territorial and economic conditions which Japan has imposed within the last ten years.

So the Japanese, in the meantime, have begun to clear the decks of as many outstanding issues as possible, hoping that by the time the conference convenes Far Eastern discussions may be confined to a minimum number of subjects.

Since the conference invitation was issued, the Japanese government has renewed its promise to begin the return of the province of Manchuria to China, and in the last few days, also have announced they were ready to withdraw from Siberia.

These and many other matters, according to the Japanese contention, must be cleared up before the conference opens. It is learned at the state department in this connection that negotiations between the various governments are expected to precede the meeting here, and that the light either to the settlement of pending questions or to subjects which the powers may indicate hereafter what phases of the international situation they wish to discuss.

It is indicated now that Japan will attempt to obtain a settlement of numerous world questions before the meeting opens and will content that other matters relating to the Asiatic mainland are of concern only to her and China and should be settled directly between the two countries.

Suggestion that the French position might retard the conference, because of France's objection to limiting land armament, has received answer in an explanation coming from an official quarter here. The powers have been informed, it is stated, that the necessity of self-protection because of an unusual situation will be taken into full consideration when armament is discussed. Thus, it is not believed that France's attitude will form an obstacle to the accomplishment of armament limitation.

Another development in the preliminary stages of the coming meeting is consideration of the Russian situation. While the present Russian government will not be represented in any way, it is stated in official quarters that Russia's relation to the other world powers will be kept constantly in mind in many questions that affect both Europe and Asia. In arriving at certain decisions, it is stated, the plenipotentiaries will consider their possible future relation to Russia's position.

Genie Moran and John Simmons Freed in Investigation of Watson Death Mystery.
Milledgeville, Ga., July 18.—(Special.)—Following investigation Monday by the Spalding county grand jury of the mysterious slaying of Carl Watson, a young man whose body was discovered in the Oconee river early on the morning of August 26, 1919, Genie Moran and John Simmons, two of the eight persons held in connection with the affair, were released. Startling developments are expected Tuesday.

A sensation was created Tuesday of last week by the unexpected arrests of four men and a woman in connection with the case. Those arrested were Ike Seay, John Simmons, Genie Moran, Jake Brooks and Winnie Brooks. Shurley Seay, the 18-year-old son of Ike Seay, and who enlisted in the army last fall, will also be brought here, it is stated. The following morning, Dolie Robertson and Barnes Reynolds were arrested following investigation by the grand jury. Saturday morning Homer Mashburn, a saw mill worker, was arrested. Watson left Milledgeville, a suburb of Milledgeville, August 16, to accept a position. A search was soon begun by his wife, but he was not again heard of until August 22, 1919, when his body was found lodged against a raft in the Oconee river. His skull was crushed and he had been shot through the neck. An investigation was at once begun, but because of the paucity of the evidence secured at the time, the public thought the affair a mystery to which the solution probably would never be found. Since then, however, officers have been quietly investigating the case. It is asserted that one of the circumstances seized upon by officers and worked into a web of evidence was an alleged attempt by John Simmons, alleged to have been made at the Oconee Brick and Tile company, to sell Charlie Crosby a hat in which, upon investigation by Crosby, Carl Watson's name was found under the inside band. Crosby, then told Simmons, it is said, that the hat was that of a dead man. The reply made by Simmons, it is stated, was that Winnie Brooks had given him the hat. It is asserted that Simmons thereupon threw the hat into the furnace. Homer Mashburn was released Friday night.

Hoover Expects Further Offers On Nitrate Plant
Washington, July 18.—Other offers from private concerns for acquiring the nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., for which Henry Ford has submitted a proposal of a lease for one hundred years at one million five hundred thousand dollars a year, and a cash payment of five million dollars, are expected by the government, Secretary Hoover said today.

Secretary Hoover indicated that there had been some discussions with the Du Pont interests but said there had been no specific proposal submitted as yet. A number of chemical and power companies, he said, are considering the proposition, but nothing definite in the way of an offer has been determined.

Mr. Hoover said that the offer, in addition to Mr. Ford's proposal, must be made through or in direct to Secretary Weeks, who, he said, has the Ford proposal under consideration.

TENNESSEE INDUSTRIES RESUME OPERATIONS
Chattanooga, Tenn., July 18.—The Mills Coal company, one of the largest concerns of the kind in the south, which has been completely shut down for two weeks and before that time operating on a curtailed basis, resumed operations today with prospects of working at capacity production within a short time. The company employs about 250 men.

It was announced here today that John Astor Squires and Associates, of New York, who recently purchased the holdings of the bankrupt Dayton Coal and Iron company, at Dayton, Tenn., will operate the plant in operation within a week. The Astor collieries having been incorporated in a new company with a capital of one million five hundred thousand dollars for purpose of development.

SACRAMENT WINE RULES PROTESTED TO PROHIBITION CHIEF
Washington, July 18.—Manufacturers of sacramental wines and representatives of various religious organizations have given a hearing today before Prohibition Commissioner Haynes on the proposed regulations covering the manufacture and distribution of wine for religious purposes. The churches had made formal protest against rules prohibiting the distribution of white wine to churches, contending that the churches were unable to get their standard wines from wholesale druggists.

Tentative new regulations would permit bonded manufacturers of sacramental wine to distill their own product, but would not allow them to deal in the products of other manufacturers.

CHANGE FOR BETTER BY KABER WOMAN
Cleveland, Ohio, July 18.—A slight change for the better is noted this morning in the physical condition of Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber.

Mrs. Kaber slept a little last night and ate sparingly, the first sleep of food she had since she was carried back to her cell from the court room after hearing sentence pronounced by her. Apparently worn out by the trial and the shock to her nervous system, she has remained in a nearly comatose condition showing little or no interest in her surroundings. Her daughter, Marian McBride, awaiting trial charged with first degree murder of Kaber, is constantly with her.

Japan Is Uneasy Over Disarming
Proposed Conference Upsets Nation's Plans, Owning to Relations With Government of China.
BY RALPH H. TURNER.
United News Staff Correspondent.
Washington, July 18.—While the state department still awaits Japan's complete acceptance of President Harding's invitation to a new world conference, there is increasing evidence here of the uneasiness with which the Japanese view the epochal turn in the international situation.

It would seem, in a quandary. If she declines to enter wholeheartedly and without reservation into the discussion of Far Eastern questions, she throws herself open to suspicion. But if every phase of the Far Eastern problem is thrown upon the table for discussion Japan stands to lose both prestige and power in the Orient.

China, it is learned, hopes to open the whole question of Japanese "special privilege" in the Chinese republic. The Peking government, viewing the Harding conference as an opportunity of a lifetime, will seek increased sovereignty for itself by proposing revision of territorial and economic conditions which Japan has imposed within the last ten years.

So the Japanese, in the meantime, have begun to clear the decks of as many outstanding issues as possible, hoping that by the time the conference convenes Far Eastern discussions may be confined to a minimum number of subjects.

Since the conference invitation was issued, the Japanese government has renewed its promise to begin the return of the province of Manchuria to China, and in the last few days, also have announced they were ready to withdraw from Siberia.

These and many other matters, according to the Japanese contention, must be cleared up before the conference opens. It is learned at the state department in this connection that negotiations between the various governments are expected to precede the meeting here, and that the light either to the settlement of pending questions or to subjects which the powers may indicate hereafter what phases of the international situation they wish to discuss.

It is indicated now that Japan will attempt to obtain a settlement of numerous world questions before the meeting opens and will content that other matters relating to the Asiatic mainland are of concern only to her and China and should be settled directly between the two countries.

Suggestion that the French position might retard the conference, because of France's objection to limiting land armament, has received answer in an explanation coming from an official quarter here. The powers have been informed, it is stated, that the necessity of self-protection because of an unusual situation will be taken into full consideration when armament is discussed. Thus, it is not believed that France's attitude will form an obstacle to the accomplishment of armament limitation.

Another development in the preliminary stages of the coming meeting is consideration of the Russian situation. While the present Russian government will not be represented in any way, it is stated in official quarters that Russia's relation to the other world powers will be kept constantly in mind in many questions that affect both Europe and Asia. In arriving at certain decisions, it is stated, the plenipotentiaries will consider their possible future relation to Russia's position.

Genie Moran and John Simmons Freed in Investigation of Watson Death Mystery.
Milledgeville, Ga., July 18.—(Special.)—Following investigation Monday by the Spalding county grand jury of the mysterious slaying of Carl Watson, a young man whose body was discovered in the Oconee river early on the morning of August 26, 1919, Genie Moran and John Simmons, two of the eight persons held in connection with the affair, were released. Startling developments are expected Tuesday.

A sensation was created Tuesday of last week by the unexpected arrests of four men and a woman in connection with the case. Those arrested were Ike Seay, John Simmons, Genie Moran, Jake Brooks and Winnie Brooks. Shurley Seay, the 18-year-old son of Ike Seay, and who enlisted in the army last fall, will also be brought here, it is stated. The following morning, Dolie Robertson and Barnes Reynolds were arrested following investigation by the grand jury. Saturday morning Homer Mashburn, a saw mill worker, was arrested. Watson left Milledgeville, a suburb of Milledgeville, August 16, to accept a position. A search was soon begun by his wife, but he was not again heard of until August 22, 1919, when his body was found lodged against a raft in the Oconee river. His skull was crushed and he had been shot through the neck. An investigation was at once begun, but because of the paucity of the evidence secured at the time, the public thought the affair a mystery to which the solution probably would never be found. Since then, however, officers have been quietly investigating the case. It is asserted that one of the circumstances seized upon by officers and worked into a web of evidence was an alleged

MINISTERS CONTINUE WAR UPON DANCING

Methodist ministers of Atlanta, following a meeting of their association endorsed resolutions against dancing, which were recently adopted by the association and read from pulpits Sunday.

The resolutions call two social purity rallies, and the dates for these have been changed to Sunday, July 11. One of these will be held in a north side church while the other will be conducted in a large south side church.

The full text of the resolutions is as follows: Whereas, the social dance, always evil in its basis and tendency, has of late grown so alarmingly in extent and indecency as to call for earnest and desperate efforts to stay its blighting spread.

Resolved, first, That we reiterate our absolute conviction that the social dance of the sexes is a menace to the purest and best and most fundamental things in our civilization, and that the Methodist church is committed against it, and do all in their power to discourage the same.

Resolved, second, That as Methodist ministers we find ourselves embarrassed beyond measure and crippled almost hopelessly in this fight by the influence of official excommunication in the church, it is all but vain for us to try to out against such a thing when some of the highest officials in our missionary society champion these dances, attend them, and have them in their own homes.

Resolved, third, We are so burdened with the gravity of this menace that we will read these resolutions in every Methodist pulpit in Atlanta next Sunday.

Recorder's Clerk Held Up, Beaten And Then Robbed

Police Believe the Attack on J. H. McKerley Result of Grudge.

J. H. McKerley, clerk of Recorder Johnson's police court, was held up on Whitehall street near the railroad tracks late Monday night, struck in the face a number of times with the butt end of a revolver and robbed of $15 in cash by five white bandits, who drove up in an automobile.

McKerley told officers who investigated the case that he was walking out Whitehall when an automobile headed for West End drove up along side of him, stopped and a man alighted, rushed up behind him and leveled a revolver at him, ordered him to throw up his hands and hand over all his money. He protested, he said, but finally told the bandit that he would comply if he would put up the pistol.

Another man then left the car, walked up to him and struck him on the head and in the face with his revolver. Temporarily stunned by the blows, McKerley said he submitted to being searched, after which the bandits leaped into the car and drove away.

None of the men were masked, and police circles Monday night indicated that the attack was the result of a personal grudge against the victim.

The number of the automobile is known, it is stated, and with this clue it is expected that the robbers will be brought to justice.
